Post Office Quarterly Receipts Grow; Possibility of First Class Rating Exists

Gross postal receipts for the June quarter (April, May, June, 1949), total $9,173.00, a gain of $1040.47 over same period in 1948, Campbell Postmaster Ira Grimm has announced. There is every indication that this office will make First Class this calendar year, he added, explaining that gross annual postal receipts for First Class Office must be $40,000.00 or more.

Receipts for Second Class Office must be $8,000.00 or over. "When I came in the office in January, 1935, we were fighting to hold our Second Class rating of $8,000.00 annual receipts. There has been a gain of more than $30,000.00 during the past 15 years."

Money orders issued this June quarter amount to $82,037.24; These amounts are not counted for the purpose of determining the class of office, neither does the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds or Savings Stamps, or numerous other duties postal employees are called upon to perform.

EXPENSE TO CARRIER

"In First Class offices, a Special Delivery Messenger is paid a salary plus car allowance," said Grimm, "but in our office (second class) an employee must deliver a Special Delivery letter on his own time and is paid a total of 9 cents regardless of the distance. In some instances an employee may travel 6 miles, furnish his own transportation and receive 9 cents for such delivery. In a great many instances we can use the telephone to inform the patrons of the arrival of a Special Delivery letter when they live a long distance from the office. They are mostly very cooperative and allow the delivery to be made by regular carrier."

"During the past two years City Delivery Service has been inaugurated in Campbell. We have four city carriers, two mounted, two foot and two rural carriers. The majority of these carriers have had several years service in the Postal Service."

"I believe every male employee in the Campbell Post Office including the carriers is a veteran. They take pride in serving the people of Campbell and are always willing to accommodate the patrons on their routes and in the office. I am very proud to be associated with the Campbell Post Office employees. Our phone number is Campbell 2153. After 6 p.m., it is Campbell 2453. We are always glad to answer your call, whether it be for information, service or complaint."

The following day, the fever had vanished, but it returned again on Friday in greater intensity.

The order came to California with the "49ers" and the Mother Lode Country is well equipped with Odd Fellows' halls many of which date back to the early days. The organization has a membership of over 30,000 in California and is dedicated to the interests of fraternity; the visiting of the sick and the care of the widow, the destitute and the orphan among its members.

The Odd Fellows home at Saratoga is one of the finest in the country and the orphans' home at Gilroy is beautifully equipped and has for many years raised and educated the orphans of the Fraternity. The lodge at Campbell meets every Thursday night, has a membership close to 200 and is one of the bright spots of fraternalism in Campbell.

Corporation Seeks M-1 Rezoning For Former Cannery Plant on Dillon Ave.

First of two hearings on rezoning of a portion of the former Campbell Canning company property, Campbell and Dillon avenues, from residential to light manufacturing has been scheduled for 2 p.m., Wednesday, July 20, before the Santa Clara County Planning Commission. The second hearing will be conducted by the commission on August 27.

The canning plant was purchased in mid-May from Joe Sunseri by the Campbell Building and Investment Corporation, William N. Lloyd, president. At the June 15 meeting of the Planning Commission, the corporation secretary, George Robson, requested an adjustment in the zoning provisions to permit structural remodeling of the plant into retail store buildings. A portion of the property is in the residential zone, while the balance comes under the light manufacturing zoning.

In an opinion on the request, rendered by the County Counsel, it was found that the applica-

PLANNERS O.K. CHURCH REQUEST FOR PERMIT

At public hearing Wednesday on application of the First Baptist Church of Campbell for a use permit to conduct church services in an existing building at 81 N. First Street, the County Planning Commission issued approval of the application. It was understood that the existing building would be remodeled and used and the church planned to acquire, later, a larger corner site on which to build a permanent church.

J. B. Alcorn, chairman of the Board of Deacons of the church, told the planners the church has sought to purchase nine various pieces of property in the past year, but has been unsuccessful in each case. He added that the church now has under consideration property which has been tax deeded to the state, and church officers are now considering making a bid on the land.

Petition of Maude Haynes for adjustment in zoning ordinance provisions to permit a 10-foot sideyard for a dwelling to be constructed in a district where in a 20-foot sideyard is required, was denied by the commission. The property is located on the south side of Panorama Drive, easterly of Saratoga-Los Gatos Road.

In giving the decision, the board based its findings on belief that no physical hardship would be involved other than those created by the ordinance, and that the property could be used for erection of a dwelling which would conform to zoning ordinance requirements.

Daylight Saving Initiative Petitions Circulated by JC

Petitions favoring the Summer-time Daylight Saving initiative are being circulated in Campbell this week by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The measure will establish summer daylight time schedules throughout California annually from the last Sunday in April through the last Sunday in September. This period corresponds to the summertime schedules now in operation in other states and communities where the program has been established.

It is intended to have this measure qualified in time for a special election in November. If adopted by the voters at that time, it will be operative next summer. More than 205,000 valid signatures will be necessary to qualify this measure for the ballot. The initiative is sponsored by the California State Junior Chamber of Commerce.

YOUNG SOLOIST

Richard Osborne, younger son of the Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Osborne, was the soloist at the Congregational Church service on Sunday.

FRANK BENFATTO DIES IN ACCIDENT WHILE DRIVING TO WIFE'S FUNERAL

Tragedy again visited the Frank Benfatto family this month when Frank Benfatto was killed in a motor accident on a desert highway near Elko, Nevada, Wednesday. Mr. Benfatto and his father-in-law, Napoleon Garrant, both of Campbell, were driving east for the funeral of Mrs. Caroline Benfatto.

Mr. Garrant, who was at the driver's wheel, reportedly fell asleep and the car went off the highway and plunged into a deep canyon. Mr. Benfatto died almost instantly.

Caroline Benfatto To Be Interred In New York

GALA COMMUNITY SPIRIT TO REIGN AT BENEFIT FOR TOWN'S YOUNGSTERS

Everyone's invited to the big community carnival tonight and tomorrow at the festival grounds, corner of Rincon and Winchester, Campbell. Come out and bring the family, join in the raft of fun at the gay booths where you'll find everything from food and soft drinks to games of skill. Hours are from 4 p.m. to midnight Friday and Saturday, this week.

Jaycees Work On Carnival Booths; Plan Barbecue

Campbell Jaycees will hold a barbecue meeting Wednesday, June 20, at 7 p.m. The location will be the Snell Road residence of Joe Bloom.

At the Jaycees' business meeting Wednesday night, members first gathered at the Rincon and Winchester carnival grounds to erect booths for the softball lighting fund carnival this weekend. After completing their job, the group adjourned to the home of their president, Kenneth Roberts.

During the evening the group discussed their financially successful Charter Night banquet June 20 at Hawaiian Gardens, San Jose. The members also learned that Mrs. C. F. Livingston, who donated her backyard for the Junior Chamber barbecue in June, had asked that a fund to purchase a thank you gift for her be donated instead to the softball lighting fund. The group applauded this civic gesture on the part of their hostess.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce voted to operate the Over and Under dice game at the softball lighting fund carnival.

Main topic of discussion was the plan to circulate a petition in this community asking for inclusion of the daylight savings initiative on the November general election ballot.

Delegates to the Junior Chamber of Commerce district meeting this Saturday night in Gilroy will be Roberts, Bill Halls and any other member interested in attending. The local men will have to join the Gilroy convalesce after it begins due the Campbell lighting carnival which will close that night.

League Lead Goes To Mac's On Graham Half

Mac's Market assured itself of the title for the first half of the Graham League Wednesday night at Backesto Park, when Kelly, Ruscigno and McConnell each hit the home plate once, and Connolly hung up two runs, in the 5-1 victory against Standard Produce.

Pitcher Bud Bosque hung up another no-run, no-hit victory for Western Gravel over E-Z Drive-In in an exhibition game. Although Bosque gathered 17 strikeouts, Western Gravel forfeited its league race with E-Z for using an ineligible player.

Twenty prizes will be given during the carnival, including a deluxe television set which is scheduled to be handed over to the lucky Campbellite at 10 p.m. Saturday.

Wiring for lighting the carnival grounds was donated by a Campbell individual who asks to remain anonymous. The committee has expressed its appreciation for this generous gesture as well as for the lighting equipment being donated by the Heple Construction Company.

As you see, everyone is in on the work and the fun. Let's really make it a bang-up community whing-ding of a carnival.

Mr. Max Mercer, of Mercer Electric and J. M. Dahl, Campbell realtor, have given permission to use the carnival grounds.

The BPWC has expressed its thanks to R. E. Olson and Postmaster Ira Grim for obtaining carnival wheels to be used in its booth.

Volunteer firemen fire-proofed the booths before carnival time.

Many other individuals and concerns have donated time and equipment. Send in their names and they will be published in next week's Campbell Press.

The carnival is for all the family, and the proceeds are for the same, for they will be used to purchase and install lighting equipment at the Campbell Grammar School softball field. Such a facility, the sponsoring organization, the Campbell Business and Professional Women's Club believes, will be a community asset which will attract desirable residents and businesses and provide needed recreation for youth of the area. It will be one more step toward a well-balanced recreation program for all age groups of the Campbell area. Over $549 has already been donated toward the $3000 the BPWC needs to raise to make the lighting system an actuality.

VARIETY OF ATTRACTIONS

Booths at the carnival grounds tonight and Saturday will be sponsored by various Campbell organizations. For instance, you might try doing part of your weekend shopping at the Campbell IOOF Lodge's grocery booth. Take a rest and munch some refreshment at the Pocatontas group's hot dog and coffee stand. Ada Rebekah Lodge will provide soft drinks at its booth and you'll find dessert over at the Footlighters' ice cream show.

Feel refreshed now? How's about ambling over to try your ability at the nail drive booth operated by the Women's Service Club; flex muscles you didn't know you had and take your turn at the basketball throw which the Cambrian Home and School Club will sponsor, or how about the Over-Under game handled by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Visit the San Tomas Men's Club ring toss stand, or the dart game run by the Campbell Grange, now there's a game to try your skill. There'll even be Chuck-o-Luck, with the Campbell Chamber of Commerce in charge. Refresh yourself with a stop at the Volunteer Fire Department's booth.

Campbell American Legion Post 596 and the Legion Auxiliary will run the ham and bacon wheel, and the Business and Professional Woman's Club will have a treasury of white elephants for your selection, not to mention a post office booth as well.

Well, by golly, what are we waiting for? Let's go; let's all go. See you there.

BOOTH WORK

The booths were built Wednesday night by the Campbell Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Odd Fellows. Mrs. Mary Grey is general chairman of the carnival assisted by Azalea Shaw and Mrs. Ethan Lanphear of the Business and Professional Women. Bud Bachman headed the Jaycee committee; Harley Poore and Eugene Hodges are representing the Odd Fellows; Leo Parks the American Legion and Art Tindall the Footlighters. Credits go, also to Tony Bakich who has been very active in the planning and arrangement jobs.

ALMA TRIO'S CONCERT AT MONTALVO CONCLUDES SUMMER SERIES HERE

By John White

The Alma Trio concluded their Saratoga series of summer concerts with a program of trios by Brahms, Beethoven and Mendelssohn. The afternoon began with the intense and forceful Trio in C minor, Op. 101, by Brahms. Of the three trios that Brahms composed in this form, the workmanship in this one, the third, is unquestionably the best. Here is passion, but no longer the passion and despair of youth, more is it the autumnal passion of 'remembrance of things past.'

The high-spirited and happy Trio in B flat, Op. 97 by Beethoven was the Alma Trio's choice for the second spot on the program. This is perhaps the best known of the Beethoven trios, even though it is not considered his best work. One reason for this is that the piano overbalances the importance of the other two instruments. This is to be noticed especially in the slow movement, cast in variation form, and the variations are mainly for piano. Although the lack of balance is to be regretted, the music of this movement is of the most mystical and lovely of all the Beethoven slow movements. Of particular interest from the last variation (in D major) to the Allegro (in B flat major) which follows without pause. This trio was performed with all the sensitive musicianship and depth of emotion that one has come to associate with performances of the Alma Trio.

Concluding the program was the Trio in D minor, Op. 49, by Mendelssohn. The best movement here was the fast moving Scherzo, sparkling vivacious and typical of Mendelssohn at his best. Of the three trios performed that afternoon this was the least attractive, the least interesting.

ACOUSTICS PROBLEM

It is to be suggested that something be done about the acoustics at Montalvo. The room is inclined to echo and the piano frequently sounds as though the sustaining pedal were constantly depressed. This is not a criticism of Mr. Baller's pedal technique which is at all times completely under his control but is a criticism of the room's acoustics. A second suggestion would be to place the performers in the center of the fireplace wall of the room, thereby enabling the audience to see the performers. Under the present arrangement it is impossible for those seated in the rear half of the room to see anything.

The Alma Trio is currently presenting a cycle of Beethoven trios, violin and piano sonatas, and violin and piano sonatas at the University of California. This is a remarkable cycle in that all the compositions that Beethoven created in these three forms are being presented. The second in this series of six concerts is scheduled for July 8 at 8:15 p.m. in Wheeler Hall.

Two Delinquents Reported by Board

Two Campbell men were among 92 men in Santa Clara County who were listed as delinquent in reporting to Selective Service boards. They are Lynn Taylor, 36 Gilman Street, and Jessie Loya Jr., Route 1, Box 376 San Jose-Los Gatos Road.

Lillian Krigbaum, Selective Service Co-ordinator, said the list was turned over to the U. S. District Attorney, and that delinquency charges in most cases were based on failure to provide change of address or to file Selective Service questionnaires.

Letter To The Editor

To the Campbell Press:
Campbell is a fine little town, full of good, alert people all anxious for civic betterment and is, above all, a rapidly growing town.

There is, however, one crying need that has escaped us.

There are a large number of splendid old citizens who have done their work well, and now must sit for a few years on the side lines, 'til they get their summons Home.

Always have they been active, meeting people, and doing things, so they wander downtown just for the chance of meeting a friend on a street corner.

Street corner it must be, for Campbell has no spot where these elderly men may meet and amuse themselves.

I am sure that if some organization would just give this plan a boost, that churches, lodges, clubs and civic-minded people would work together for this end.

A small shady square would be ideal—with tables, benches where these men could rest, read, play games or pitch horseshoes.

Won't some group take this up as a project? I am sure the businessmen would cooperate.

Perhaps some organization has a building lot that they would lend. The men would do the clearing and build their own improvements.

We all want to help the youth, but don't we owe some loyalty to the men who have stood by for so many years?

A Citizen,
CLARA BALDWIN

Grand National Livestock Show Gets Competition

For the third consecutive year the Grand National Livestock Exposition, Horse Show and Rodeo has been awarded official World Series of North American rodeo competition.

So stated Carl L. Garrison, secretary-manager of the Grand National in announcing official notification had been received that the Grand National which will be held in the San Francisco San Mateo Cow Palace Oct. 28-Nov. 6, had been selected for the International Rodeo Association Championship Finals for 1949. The notification was received from R. J. Hoffman, of Cheyenne, Wyoming, president of the I.R.A.

The International Rodeo Association is the official league of 90 of the top rodeos in the United States and Canada, including such famous contests as the Cheyenne Frontier Days, the Pendleton Roundup, the Calgary Stampede, the American Royal at Kansas City, the California Rodeo at Salinas, the Ellensburg Rodeo, the Lewiston Roundup, the Sun Valley Rodeo and the Grand National in San Francisco's Cow Palace.

The association awards points based upon the amount of purse money won by contestants during the season. The final roundup for the season's competition and the big battle for the championship awards goes to the rodeo which is annually awarded the World Series. This year as in two previous years it will be the Grand National.

The I.R.A. puts up $11,000 in cash championship awards for this competition. This will be awarded in addition to the $14,000 in Grand National purses.

Joseph L. Gautier Held On Charge Of Possessing Still

Joseph L. Gautier, 47, of Route 2, Box 506, Cupertino was arrested Friday by Federal officers who raided his Stevens Creek ranch with law enforcement officers from Santa Clara County and State offices. Arresting officers reportedly discovered a still on the ranch.

The Cupertino vintner was confined to Santa Clara County jail in lieu of $1000 cash bail, after he appeared before U. S. Commissioner Marshall Hall on charges of possessing a still. His preliminary hearing was set for today.

Officers were assertedly led to discovery of the still indirectly, when a Mountain View man, Ned Vlahovich, 65, of Portland Avenue, was taken to the county hospital by an unidentified man. Vlahovich was suffering from serious burns which may prove fatal.

Sgt. John Perussina of the County Sheriff's office was called by the hospital to interview Vlahovich who speaks little English and was unable to explain cause of the injuries. Vlahovich was reluctant to discuss the accident with the sheriff's officer, and the latter, becoming suspicious, consulted Ray Hicks, supervisor of the State Board of Equalization office.

On suggestion of the Vlahovich's burns could possibly have been caused by explosion of a still, officers questioned him again, then moved to investigate the Gautier ranch.

Those officers participating in the raid were Hicks, Perussina, Liquor Control Officers George Lewis and Hugh Boyle and Federal Alcohol Tax Unit investigators Robert Stuhler and Kenneth Blair.

Dog Licenses Now Payable At San Jose

Pursuant to County Dog License Ordinance passed by the County Board of Supervisors requiring a license fee of $1.00 per year for all dogs in the unincorporated areas of the county, also creating positions of Poundman, license fees may now be mailed to County License Collector, Roy P. Emerson, Hall of Justice, San Jose 18. In another column of this paper a coupon with the required information can be cut out and mailed with the remittance. Owners of more than one dog may show the additional information in a letter. A dog tag with link attached will be issued with each license.

Emerson says provisions of the ordinance makes it unlawful for any person to keep an unlicensed dog, and it is the duty of each poundmaster to pick up stray dogs and if not redeemed by the owner the dog may be sold or disposed of. Violation of the ordinance is a misdemeanor and upon conviction is punishable by a fine of not more than $100.00 or imprisonment in the county jail for a period of sixty days or both.

Roy G. Archibald Due Back Saturday

Roy G. Archibald of N. Union Avenue, is expected back from the hospital tomorrow. Mrs. Archibald reports that her husband, an official of the American Trust Company in San Jose, is doing well.

White House Photo Changed On $20 Bills

The picture of the White House which appears on the reverse of all $20 bills has been brought up to date, the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reminded the public today, following inquiries from many persons who believed the new currency of that denomination to be counterfeit.

The design heretofore in use showed the south front and the grounds of the White House as they appeared in 1929. The new engraving was made from a photograph of the White House south front and grounds as they are today.

Comparison of the two pictures will reveal the presence of additional trees and shrubbery, and of heavier foliage, so that grounds are a deeper green in the current design. Structural changes in the building include the balcony which has been added at the second floor level, and four chimneys in place of the two in 1929.

The White House flag, which blew straight out in 1929 hangs at an angle from its staff in the picture, taken on a windless day. The bottom portions of the windows are of solid color, giving the impression that they are open. Lettering beneath the building has been changed from "White House" to "The White House."

There has been no change in the design for the front of the note.

Moreland Group Plans Potluck

The recreation department of Moreland School will have a potluck supper July 22 at 6:30 p.m. at the school cafeteria, Payne and Saratoga Roads. There will be dancing and bridge or whist playing following the supper.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Barr will be in charge of the evening program. Those wishing to attend are requested to notify Mrs. Barr, phone Santa Clara 1213-R, or Mrs. M. Harp, Campbell 4426. Each person should provide his own table service.

Palo Alto Child Dies In Accident On Big Basin Road

A three-year-old boy, Bobby Gove of Palo Alto, was killed on Monday morning near Saratoga when the car in which he was riding with his family left Big Basin Road and went over into a canyon. The accident occurred seven miles west of here. He was the son of Mrs. Jane E. Gove.

Others in the car were the boy's cousin, Billie MacGregor, 4½, who received a major head injury; Mrs. Elizabeth MacGregor, 32, Donald J. MacGregor, 30, driver of the auto; Glen MacGregor and Mrs. Gove, all of whom received cuts and bruises.

The survivors were taken to Santa Clara County Hospital.

Another July 4 auto victim was Paul Ramirez, 19, of Route 2, Box 952, Cupertino, who suffered a bruised left knee when the car he was operating was side-swiped by a hit-run driver on Keyes Street near the San Jose City dump.

In an auto accident at Fruitdale Avenue and Meridian Road, Linia Jane Hansen, 22, Route 3, Box 445, Los Gatos, received bruises on her left leg.

Driving Lesson Ends In Triple Fender Smash

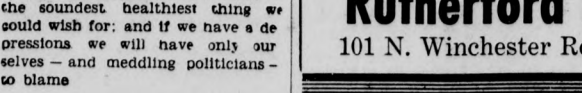

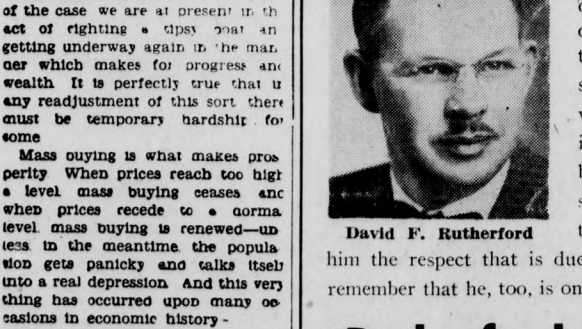

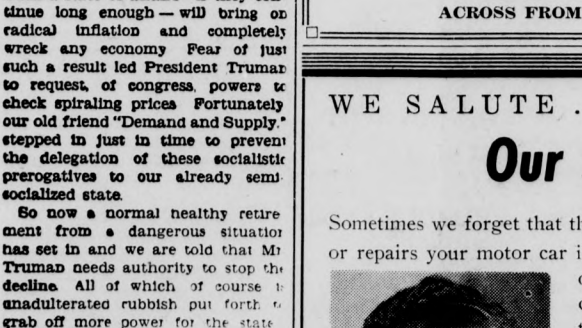

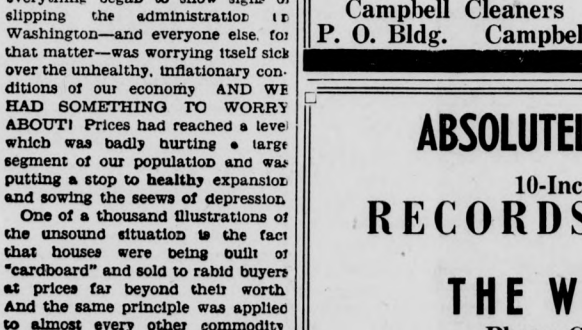

When some people set out to do a job, they do a thorough one. When Fred Berryman set out to teach his granddaughter the how and why of driving automobiles, they hauled the car away.

Sally Burrows, 15, of Los Gatos was at the wheel of Mr. Berryman's car Thursday, and was getting the hang of it when she approached the Saratoga plaza. She brought the wheel about as she made the turn around the tiny square to head toward Los Gatos, then things began to happen.

Instead of straightening out, the car banged into the Bridges Construction Company truck parked on one side of the plaza, then headed across to the opposite curb where it met with Constable Carl Taylor's Saratoga Taxi, with the constable inside.

Fenders of both the truck and the taxi were damaged.

PERFECTS SIMPLE CANCER DETECTOR

NEW YORK—A simplified and painless new method for detecting cancer has been perfected by Dr. S. A. Gladstone, Department of Pathology, Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital here, which may be performed in the physician's office without surgical biopsy.

The cancer test consists of rubbing a section of Gelfoam, a protein sponge, over the suspected area. Where cancer is present, the protein material picks up cancer cells. Clinically tested for more than a year, the new method did not fail once in more than 700 cases, and actually proved the presence of cancer in some cases where standard surgical biopsy procedure had failed to reveal it. Dr. Gladstone has just been awarded a New York Medical Society "scientific award" for his contribution to medical science.

WE SALUTE . . .
Our Laborers!

Sometimes we forget that the unsung man who mixes cement or repairs your motor car is worthy of the highest commendation. Could YOU, the average citizen of this town, handle a trowel or cure the costly ailments of a temperamental car? This requires specialized knowledge and this is the day of highly-trained specialists. The Laboring Man, whatever his calling, is a factor in our community life that cannot be discounted. Look upon him as someone who contributes largely to your modern way of life. Pay him the respect that is due his trade or specialty . . . and remember that he, too, is one of our good citizens!

Six-Inch Sermon

† REV. ROBERT H. HARPER †

Jesus Sentenced to Death

Lesson for June 5: John 19:1-6.

Memory Selection: 1 Peter 2: 21, 23

A single sentence tells how Jesus was prepared to hear his sentence. He was scourged then he was crowned with thorns, buffeted by the soldiers, and mocked as a king. After such treatment, Pilate declared he found no fault in Jesus.

His accusers then shouted that by their law Jesus ought to die. Pilate questioned Jesus and, at first, received no answer. Then, in answer to Pilate's threats, Jesus replied that the governor could have no power at all over him except it be given him from above. Pilate was troubled at this as perhaps thinking that he was dealing with One who was more than a man.

In his further efforts to release Jesus, he was told by the accusers that they had no king but Caesar and that, if Pilate set Jesus free, he was not Caesar's friend. Thus did they choose, and thus did Pilate choose, as many have done since, between Caesar and Christ.

Pilate ignobly stands out as a cowardly official. He tried to placate the people and induce them to agree to the release of Jesus. He washed his hands in token of his innocence. But history has never accepted the token. The responsibility of the tragic hour was Pilate's. And he failed miserably because he feared the very people he was appointed to rule, and let the innocent go to horrible death. As for ourselves, let us rejoice that by the sacrificial death of Jesus we can be saved from sin and be made heirs of everlasting life.

Stevens Reservoir To Be Emptied

Release of Stevens Creek Reservoir water for percolation will begin this week. G. Walter Hunt, chief engineer for the Santa Clara Valley water Conservation District has announced. Release of the water will be a gradual process until the dam, now storing 1850 acre feet of water, is emptied. Its capacity is 4000 acre feet.

Hunt said pumping from the creek itself has been halted due to cessation of the stream's natural flow. During past weeks the district has been releasing only the natural inflow of the stream.

Monterey County Will Hold Fair August 27 to 30

"Ever hear about the 'good old days'? Well, you'll hear a lot more during the Monterey County Fair," Vernon Hurd, director, announced today.

"We've been working on a theme that would fit in with the Centennial idea, and we think we have it," he continued. "At least, we'd like to hear from all the old-timers in the neighborhood. We're going to give them a field day at the fair, in fact four field days, August 26-30. There'll be free admission and other treats in store for those nearest the Centennial mark."

Mr. Hurd was especially happy when he talked about the Semi-Centennial review of ancient automobiles which Alton Walker has promised to put on, and the fact that Mr. Walker would give free rides to these old-timers in one of the 25 relics of the "good old days." Just which one it will be, Mr. Walker hasn't decided. If there are a number of old-timers, he'll probably pile them into the huge 1909 Pierce Arrow touring car.

Since the Monterey County Fair covers the five counties of Santa Cruz, Santa Clara, San Benito, San Luis Obispo and Monterey, there should be a good response from near-centennarians. All those over 90 are requested to forward their names, addresses and ages to the fair office, P. O. Box 1151, Monterey, California.

Exhibitors are also being asked to carry out the good old days theme with display of old prints, flags, newspapers, musical instruments, farm implements, etc., that date back to 1849. "We hope to mark off this Centennial year with a real celebration at the Monterey County Fair," Mr. Hurd concluded.

Home Economics Committee Plans August Picnic

The Home Economics committee of the Cupertino Grange held its monthly session Wednesday in the patio of the home of Maxine Grevstad. Chairman Dorothy Erickson presided.

Elizabeth Wood was surprised with a birthday cake and card which was signed by all members attending. Plans for the booth at the coming Santa Clara County Fair were thoroughly discussed and the ladies expect to work hard to make the display a success. Results of the recent food sale were also discussed. The committee learned that the traveling food basket is now taking a rest.

Members attending were Mary Breeding, Maxine Grevstad, Nella Seever, Frieda Angelo, Ruth King, Ruth Blair, Dorothy Erickson, Florence Sheffer and Elizabeth Wood.

The next meeting, on August 3, will be a picnic. The place will be announced later.

St. Lucy's Guild

Saint Lucy's Evening Guild will hold its regular business meeting Thursday night, July 14, at the parish hall. The session will begin at 8 p.m.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Josephine Ciraulo and her daughter, Miss Aileen Ciraulo.

Speedway Slates Big-Little Race Friday Night

San Jose Speedway will continue to flavor its auto racing with the unusual this week as its roadster program takes the spotlight on Friday night with a pair of 25-lap main events.

The top three men of each of the 25-lappers will compete in a "big little" race of 10 laps. This unusual double-barreled main event program was attempted at the speedway several weeks ago. It was received so favorably, according to manager Bob Barkhimer, that he wants to try it again. Several of the regular hot rod events will round out the evening of racing.

Time trials are at 7 p.m.; racing begins at 8:15.

Another product of Barkhimer's imagination was successfully presented last Sunday at the speedway. The usual midget main event of 25 laps was tripled to 75 laps with a field of 14 drivers. The action-filled marathon was finally won by Oakland's Marvin Burke.

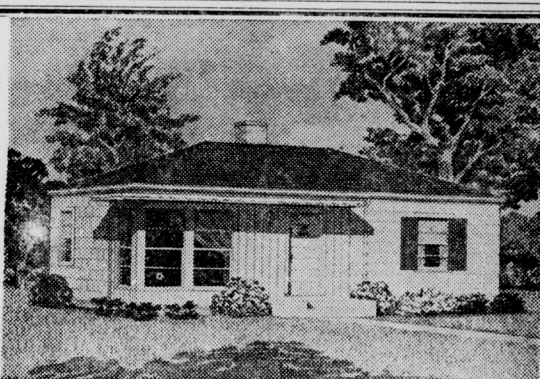

The lead changed hands several times as a half-dozen cars either spun out of race or limped to the pits with flat tires as a result of the blistering action.

Last Friday night's roadster races at the speedway saw two cars with the revolutionary torsion suspension bars make successful debuts at the San Jose track. The two cars, driven by Ed Huntington and Al Berndt, won the main event and semi-main, respectively.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE-SERMON

"Thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly." This verse from Matthew is the Golden Text of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, July 10, on the subject "Sacrament."

Included in the sermon are the following citations:

The Bible: "And Jesus saith unto them, All ye shall be offended because of me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered. And they came to a place which was named Gethsemane; and he saith to his disciples, Sit ye here, while I shall pray. And he said, Abba, Father, all things are possible unto thee; take away this cup from me: nevertheless not what I will, but what thou wilt" (Mark 14: 27, 32, 36).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Constant prayer is the desire to do right. Prayer means that we desire to walk and will walk in the light so far as we receive it, even though with bleeding footsteps, and that waiting patiently on the Lord, we will leave our real desires to be rewarded by Him" (p. 9).

THE FARMER'S CORNER

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California).

The word "liberal" has many meanings. When our Nation was young, a liberal, politically speaking, was one who believed in a high degree of individual freedom. In the opinion of the old-fashioned liberal the best governed were the least governed.

With the passing of the years, a liberal, through some process of political ledgerdom, has come to mean instead a person who subscribes to just the opposite philosophy of government. Nowadays, a liberal is generally a believer in a strong, powerful federal government—a government that infringes more and more on individual freedoms in the interest of what is conceived to be the public welfare.

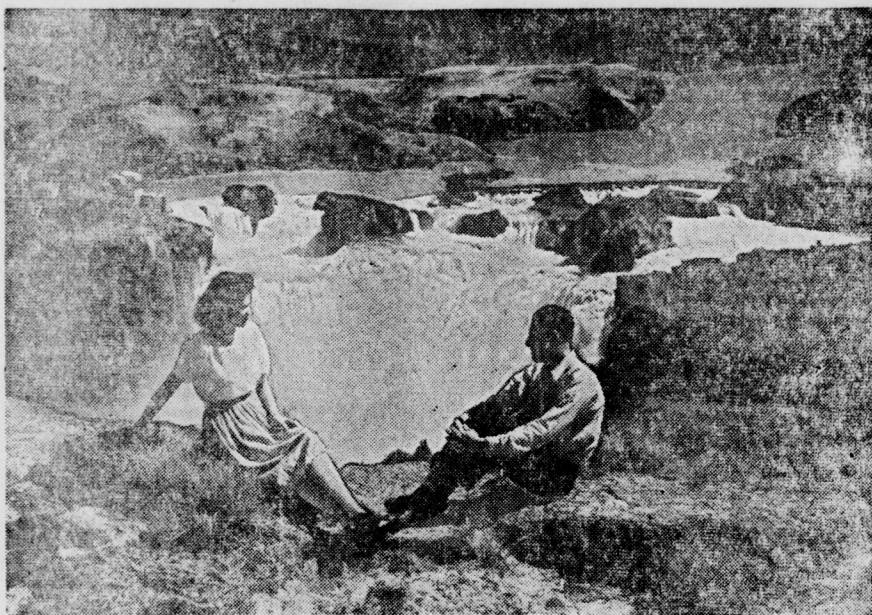

Perhaps the dictionary definition that most nearly describes today's political liberal is "openhanded" and "generous." And in politics, it should be remembered, the generosity is always with someone else's money.

The approach of deficit financing by the Federal Government at a time when the national debt is at a frightening, all-time high, however, has caused a few present day liberals to express belated concern for profligate Government spending. And so we have had the somewhat startling experience lately of hearing an occasional liberal voice calling for economy in Government.

The economy call, however, has been accompanied with the assurance that expanded Government services are still goals of the liberal cause. In fact, it is all too apparent that this new desire for economy is motivated by fear that an unbalanced Federal budget will mitigate against adoption of new spending experiments. For that reason, probably, the new liberal economy slant hasn't been taken too seriously.

The recent speech given at Washington and Lee University by former Senator James F. Byrnes, however, was heralded

IDAHO - THE FAMILY VACATION STATE

Freshened with waters unlocked by spring, Idaho's Shoshone Falls, the "Niagara of the West," send spray high into the Snake River canyon near the city of Twin Falls. One of the major waterfalls of the world, Shoshone leaps 212 feet—42 feet higher than Niagara.

BOISE, IDA.—Idaho, with more than 50 major resorts in five well-defined vacation areas, is preparing to make a bid during the 1949 summer tourist season as the "family vacation state."

The Gem state will rely on a variety of scenic wares to please its family guests, according to the Idaho state board of publicity. There's fishing in some of the west's greatest trout streams and lakes for Dad, trailrides and hikes in 16 national forests for the youngsters and some 83,000 square miles in which Mother can "window shop" at scenery from the family car.

Resorts Open For Business.
Resorts have opened in Idaho's West Yellowstone area, the Sawtooth mountain vacationland, the Salmon river primitive country, North Idaho scenic land and in the Payette Lakes resort area. Most lodges have been open since mid-May. Idaho's general fishing season has been open since June 4 in most of the state's 1,763 lakes and its 6,500 rivers and streams. License sale to anglers this year is expected to be well over the record 200,000 sold during 1948. Tourist fishing permits, good for five days, will sell again this year for $3.

Heralding the coming of spring—and the vacation season—in Idaho are some of the best wildflower displays in years, including acres of the unusual wild buckwheat that flourish at the peak of their display in June amid the weird volcanic desolation of Idaho's Craters of the Moon national monument. The craters are just a few miles west of where the atomic energy commission plans to locate its new half-billion dollar reactor plant.

At its best as a tourist spectacle during April and May is Idaho's "Niagara of the West"—Shoshone Falls of the Snake River near the city of Twin Falls. Shoshone plunges 212 feet over a horseshoe-rim nearly 1,000 feet wide.

Expected to carry the bulk of Idaho's 1949 tourist traffic are U. S. Highway 95, extending from the Canadian border to the Oregon border near Boise, longest of Idaho's arterial routes, and U. S. 91-191, the route leading across southeastern Idaho to the west entrance of Yellowstone park, most popular gateway to the national park. U. S. 20-30 extends the width of the state from the Pacific coast to Boise and across southern Idaho. U. S. Highways 2 and 10 take the traveler across the scenic lake country of north Idaho's panhandle.

Dale Carnegie

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

N. W. LIEBERMAN of Brooklyn, N. Y., thinks I am wrong when I assert that one should never say, "No, you're wrong." He thinks there are times when a man should be told definitely that he is wrong.

Well, note that I didn't say you must always agree with a man, though I did say for you not to say, "No, you're wrong." It is the phrasing that is important. If you are tactful, careful in your manner, you can say practically anything to a man without offending or even ruffling him.

D. Carnegie

But let's let Dr. Lieberman tell his own version:

"When someone comes to me with an idea," says Dr. Lieberman, "I ask him to spell it, and as soon as possible I agree with some minor point of his proposition. Then I ask him to come back after a few days or a week, when we both will have had time to think over the matter. If, when he returns, my answer is still no, I say no, but I give reasons for my conclusion, and I attempt to raise his own self-esteem by suggesting a substitute idea not too far removed from his own."

"Before I end the interview, I praise him for the value of his idea and ask his opinion about some other matter about which I know him to be well informed."

You will note that Dr. Lieberman tactfully refrains from arguing; that he is honest in his treatment, and that he shows the man the respect that everyone craves. And you can be sure that Dr. Lieberman has many more patients than he would have if he put up an argument with them on matters in which they are not wholly in accord.

If he shouted, "No, you're wrong!" when they did not agree, he would be sure to offend the sensibilities of some of those patients, with the result that they would not care to have further association with him.

So, you see, after all, Dr. Lieberman and I do agree.

from coast to coast. Byrnes is one of the foremost liberals of our time. As a senator from South Carolina, he acted as Congressional whip for President Roosevelt through the years when New Deal legislation was routed through Congress like clockwork. And until illness forced his retirement, he was President Truman's Secretary of State.

Liberal Byrnes spoke of the need for economy in Government. But the significance of his speech lay in his plea for avoidance of the alternative to economy. That alternative, deplored by Mr. Byrnes, has been endorsed by most liberals. It is the "welfare state."

In Mr. Byrnes' opinion, the welfare state policies of the present administration threaten to take the Nation down the "road to statism."

"Every segment of society is demanding special privileges," the former New Deal senator declared. "Too many people want more pay for less work. Too many people are trying to transfer power to the Government. 'Too many powers of state governments are being transferred to the Federal government. 'Where we will wind up, no one can tell. But if some of the new programs seriously proposed should be adopted there is danger that the individual, whether farmer, worker, manufacturer, lawyer or doctor, soon will be pulling an economic oar in the galley of the state, with the Federal government regimenting our lives from the cradle to the grave."

for his forthright advice: "Economy talk is useless if Congress adds to Government tasks the obligation of building homes, paying citizens' medical bills, educating children, enacting disability insurance, or making the social security program more costly."

Perhaps Mr. Byrnes will be expelled from the liberal ranks. His speech, certainly, was anathema to many Fair Deal Democrats. But by the same token, the following remarks made by another great American liberal are anathema, too:

"I place economy among the first and most important virtues and public debt as the greatest of dangers to be feared. To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt. We must make our choice between economy and liberty or profusion and servitude. If we run into such debts, we must be taxed in our meat and drink, in our necessities and in our comforts, in our labors and in our amusements. If we can prevent the Government from wasting the labors of our people under the pretense of caring for them, they will be happy. The same prudence, which in private life would forbid our money for unexplained projects, forbids it in the disposition of public money."

Those were the words of Thomas Jefferson, and they deserve careful thought.

B-36 Probe

THE MUCH ballyhooed probe of the B-36 is now taking an unexpected and not too happy turn—at least for the navy. The turn is so unhappy that naval reserve captain Congressman Jimmie Van Zandt, the Pennsylvania Republican who started all the B-36 furor, would just as soon forget about it.

For Chairman Carl Vinson of the armed services committee is not merely probing the B-36. He is also investigating the source of the smear stories against secretary of defense Johnson and secretary of air Symington. In other words, he is probing the delicate but highly important question of who wrote Congressman Van Zandt's vitriolic speeches.

In this connection it may be significant that the navy has suddenly transferred its press relations and propaganda expert, Rear Adm. Edward Ewen, to Guam. Admiral Ewen had served only one year of a three-year tour of duty, but suddenly he was whisked off to a distant island, far from the strong arm of a congressional subpoena.

The Vinson committee also is expected to apply the microscope to the most powerful backstage lobbying organization ever to buttonhole congressmen for a government bureau—the Navy League. Frank Hecht, president of the Navy League, now has become so vituperative in comparing Secretary Johnson to European dictators, that good-natured Bob Fleming, president of Washington's Riggs National Bank, is all set to resign as treasurer of the Navy League. As treasurer of the G.O.P. congressional committee last year, Fleming helped raise around a million dollars for Dewey, and has no love for the administration. But he hasn't been able to stomach the Navy League diatribes.

The Navy League has now taken over the admirals' crusade against the bill before congress tightening unification. What the admirals say privately, the Navy League now says for them publicly.

History Repeats

Harry Truman isn't the first President to have trouble with the Navy League. Herbert Hoover also had his headaches. Just 17 years ago he got into such a mudslinging duel with the Navy League that the latter ended up charging the President of the United States with "abysmal ignorance."

Attempting to practice economy, Hoover had ordered the admirals to cut their 1933 budget. Instead the admirals upped it by 40 million dollars and Hoover sent the budget back with a demand that it be reduced 20 millions under 1932.

Whereupon the Navy League, acting as a megaphone for the admirals, hurled the "abysmal ignorance" charge at Hoover just as the same Navy League is now calling Secretary Johnson a dictator.

Most folks have forgotten the origin of the Navy League—which shouldn't be forgotten. For its founders read like a meeting of metallurgical magnates.

They include: Charles M. Schwab, Bethlehem Steel Corporation; J. Pierpont Morgan, United States Steel Corporation and owner of a controlling interest in the Carnegie Steel Company; Col. R. M. Thompson, International Nickel Company; B. F. Tracy and Harvey Steel companies, and director of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company; George Westinghouse, Westinghouse Electric Company; Clement A. Griscom, director, Cramp Ship and Engine Company, the Electric Boat Company and the United States Steel Corporation; S. S. Palmer, director, Lackawanna Steel Company; eighteen members of the Midvale Steel Company.

Steel Wants Big Navy

There is a good reason why these gentlemen and their successors should be the most powerful, unscrupulous, and consistently irrepressible propagandizers for a big navy.

It pays. The bigger the navy, the more steel plates, the more generators, the more copper and nickel these gentlemen sell to Uncle Sam.

Members of the Navy League have been active and brazenly admitted their activity in sabotaging American diplomats at international conferences.

It was Charley Schwab of Bethlehem steel and associates who paid $25,000 to "Big Bass Drum" Shearer to frustrate the Geneva naval conference. The steel and shipbuilding companies just don't want naval limitation to succeed. Dividends for them, came ahead of their country's efforts for peace.

At Geneva, Shearer would have got nowhere if he had not had the all-too-eager cooperation of several U. S. naval officers sent to Geneva to work for naval limitation. Instead, they did the opposite and pumped for naval expansion.

I REMEMBER...

By THE OLD-TIMERS

From Mrs. Drénan: "I remember when there were 'For Rent' signs hanging on the sides of buildings. That was when there was a quart of milk with several inches of cream on top of every doorstep and soft coal sold for $4.50 a ton."

From Dibble: "I remember when the umbrella man came along, pushing his vendor through the streets and calling, 'Umbrellas to mend!' He carried a hand furnace and a soldering iron which he used to put the 'rain-chasers' into good shape and he always carried a flock of umbrellas with him."

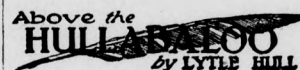

From Mrs. Mary Stewart of Englewood, Chicago: "I remember when men's boots were made to order. For Sunday they wore square toed boots of the finest leather, lined with the softest kid skin from the ankle to the knee. They were about $10. The work boots were made of heavy cowhide, lined with a soft cloth. They were greased regularly with mutton tallow. The Sunday boots lasted from 10 to 15 years. Every home had a bootjack for removing the boots. It was like a tug-of-war getting them off."

From E. E. Meredith of Fairmont, W. Va.: "I remember touring companies known as 'one-night-stand attractions' visited small towns and performed such plays as 'A Breezy Time,' 'The Missouri Girl,' 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' and 'Uncle Sam Sprucey.'"

From Charlie Gordon of Thorn Hill, Ky.: "I remember when Dad kept a big barrel of black molasses in the barn to mix with the stock feed."

From Ernest Kartje: "I remember when we used kerosene lamps backed by reflectors. Everyone in the family used to try to get into the beam of the reflector in order to read."

OFFENSIVE VS. DEFENSIVE

EVEN ROCKS, and oceans, and continents change with the ages; but there is one thing which will never change within foreseeable time, and that is the insatiable lust for power over fellow humans which seems to be born in some of us. Today's most glaring illustration of this human frailty is the unalterable determination of a small group of Asiatics—the Russian Politburo—to usurp control of the world.

Most of us like to believe that by meeting and talking with these people or their representatives, we can persuade them that our point of view is preferable to theirs. Even Roosevelt and Churchill dreamed such rosy dreams. But while we may check some of their moves by counter-moves, we will never dissuade them from their purpose.

If we grant this conclusion, then there is for us only one sound defense, and that is—offense. We must take a leaf from the Politburo's own bible and make conquest of the world by what we know as "democracy" our determined and undeviating purpose.

Today we are fighting to hold back the Asiatics from those parts of the world which they have not as yet taken over. If we are going to survive we can't always remain on the defensive—we must make our purpose the freeing of those nations and peoples which are susceptible to revolution and are without any doubt passionately desirous of digging themselves out from under the iron rule of their present police governments.

We don't have to go to war in order to "take the offensive." We would have to support morally and financially those persons, and groups, who are willing to risk their lives to save their countries from the horrors of the police state. The Bolshevik government is doing just exactly this from the other angle—and it works! Why shouldn't we counter with this same successful method?

Our present method is failing—as witness the ever-growing numbers of the earth's people succumbing to the Red "offensive." We wouldn't even have to announce our change of tactics: They would be recognized soon enough and the repercussion might be tremendous in scope. At least, it could hardly worsen our present steadily deteriorating position.

Wars are seldom won by defensive tactics alone.

On and after July 8th, 1949, I will be responsible for obligations contracted by no one other than myself.

KEEP REAMED OUT halves of lemon to the refrigerator wrapped in waxed paper. The skins may be grated to flavor soups, sauces and desserts. If you drop one of the halves in when apples or potatoes are cooking, these foods will stay white.

Cream which has turned sour may be flavored with lemon and used to season boiled potatoes and other vegetables. Add some chopped onion and other seasoning if desired and use as a salad dressing.

Keep nutmeats in airtight container in the refrigerator to keep them sweet and moist for a long period of time.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Barbecued Chicken

(Serves 6)

- 1 3½ pound chicken
- Paprika
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup chili sauce
- 1 onion, minced
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablespoon water
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

Cut chicken into serving size pieces. Sprinkle with paprika. Brown chicken in skillet in hot shortening. Add remaining ingredients. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour or until chicken is tender when pierced with a fork. Baste frequently with sauce to pan.

If maple syrup has molded on top, skim off the mold. If the syrup has been affected as to taste, bring it to a boil and store in the refrigerator until ready for use.

Scrub chicken feet thoroughly, then boil in plenty of water with vegetables and seasonings. This makes a fine aspic to be used as a base for many meat and vegetable salads.

Cookies and small cakes stay fresher if you add one teaspoon of jam or jelly as a final ingredient before baking.

Marshmallows will not become hard as rocks if you keep them in a tightly-covered container while they are kept on a shelf. It's the air that dries them out.

When unsliced bread dries out, wrap it in a clean, fresh towel which is dampened and place in a warm oven until the towel is dry.

Successful Parenthood

BY

MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

RECENTLY we saw a month-old baby christened and she seemed to be thoroughly enjoying the experience. She snuggled into her father's arms during the service, watching his face intently as if sure that he would tell her all about it some day. Later she allowed herself to be transferred to the minister's arms and preserved a sweet solemnity during the baptism. Then there were pictures to be taken and friends to admire her and the baby continued to be adorably good all through her first public appearance.

What lay back of this serenity in so young an infant? First, she was a most welcome child. All during the months before she was born her parents loved the baby. They thought of the child as a living part of their family from the first, and the father showed almost as much interest as the mother.

Then, despite the uncomfortable weeks of waiting, the baby was allowed to take her own time about being born. And most important, she was born a healthy child, with the added advantage that the mother is nursing her baby. Shortly before leaving for the church the baby had had an unhurried nursing period. And the parents didn't linger with their friends at the christening party as long as they might once have done—nor did they feel martyred that they must get the baby home for another calm nursing period before bedtime.

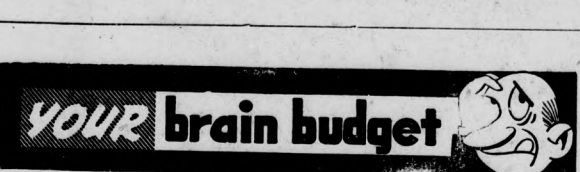

In other words, during these first few months baby comes first! Later, she will fit into family life and be more content with a smaller share of attention because her wants are being generously and lovingly supplied now without effort on her part—a short but necessary extension of prenatal dependence.

This baby's evident liking for her father also augurs well for making good adjustments to weaning, eating solid food and other first and sometimes fearful steps in altering the complete dependence on mother. For any baby needs a different but equally loving companionship waiting for him at a time when these first separations from mother might otherwise make the child feel deserted.

For a baby born into a family where there are older children, a devoted brother or sister can also be of help in teaching the baby to love someone besides his mother. And what bliss it is to a girl or boy to have the family baby turn to him at times with outstretched little hands in preference to the parents! Not only is the baby growing emotionally, but this foretaste of the joy of parenthood is an important part of the older child's development.

A final word about a baby's feeding—nursing an infant when he seems hungry, even if the schedule isn't rigidly adhered to, works best. Though there is a plan to the feeding periods, the baby isn't wakened in order to be fed on the dot, and if he cries before the hour, he is offered food. If he falls asleep before he has taken sufficient milk, mother should remember this and offer him a second helping when he awakens an hour or so later.
